No Disclosure Of Targets

U.S., Vietnamese Planes Make New Secret Strikes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American and South Vietnamese planes took off from Da Nang Air Force base today on more secret strikes. There was no disclosure of their targets.

A dozen U.S. Air Force jet fighter-bombers took off before noon from the base 365 miles northeast of Saigon. They returned in the afternoon with their bombs and rockets gone.

Four U.S. B57 Canberra bombers took off and returned a short time later. A military spokesman in Saigon, without naming Da Nang, said four B57 jets had made strikes today on Viet Cong concentrations in Phu Yen Province, about 180 miles south of Da Nang.

Six Vietnamese Skyraiders left Da Nang. On their return authorities said they had hit guerrilla targets inside the country.

In the past, strikes on targets in Communist North Viet Nam have been announced after the planes returned. Strikes against Communist supply routes in Laos are not announced.

Reliable military sources in Saigon reported that Vietnamese air force personnel stationed at Saigon, Bien Hoa and Da against the Viet Cong in rugged terrain 275 miles northeast of Saigon.

A search continued for the other pilot while aircraft provided protective cover from Communist attack. There had been reports that the two pilots ejected shortly before the plane crashed Thursday.

The Canberra jet had just dropped a load of napalm — flaming jellied gasoline — from about 500 feet when it plunged to the ground.

Other pilots on the strike in Binh Dinh Province reported encountering groundfire during their runs.

The plane is believed to be the second B57 lost since the bombers arrived in Viet Nam during the Gulf of Tonkin crisis last August.

North Viet Nam reported today it had captured 1st Lt. Hayden J. Lockhart Jr., a U.S. Air Force pilot missing since his F100 jet fighter-bomber was shot down March 2 during the American air strike on North Viet Nam's Quang Khe naval base.

Hanoi's Viet Nam news agency distributed a picture of a pilot.

General Sees Victory In Viet With U.S. Aid

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Gen. Harold K. Johnson wound up a one-week visit to this war-torn nation today and said he believes that, with continued American help, South Viet Nam can defeat its Viet Cong foes.

"Freedom is on the line here," the U.S. Army chief of staff told newsmen. "I hope very much, I believe very much, that we can make freedom prevail through the joint efforts of the countries interested in preserving freedom, especially the Republic of Viet Nam and the United States."

$600 Million In Budget

Health Care Cost Seen $2.3 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of the proposed multiple health-care plan has been estimated at $2.3 billion, but only about $600 million of this would be charged to the regular government budget, it was understood today.

The figures were reported to have been submitted to the House Ways and Means Committee which is prolonging its consideration of the complex plan combining elements of President Johnson's proposals and a program advanced by Wisconsin Rep. John W. Byrnes and other Republicans.

The committee is discussing a major income tax arrangement designed to recoup for the Treasury some or all of the government contribution to the major medical segment of the plan when the beneficiaries have enough income to be liable to taxes.

The tentative plan calls for a hospitalization and nursing home segment that would be paid for by an increase in the payroll tax. This had been estimated to cost, initially, about $1.8 billion a year, outside the regular budget.

Board Rejects Appeal

Southern Beaver Plans Study Of Merger Ruling

The Pennsylvania Board of Education's rejection of an appeal against a merger of the Southern Beaver County Jointure School District and Hopewell - Independence - Raccoon School District will be discussed at a special meeting of the Southern Beaver Board of Education Wednesday night.

The state board Thursday denied a petition by the two jointures that they be permitted to stand alone. The board also turned down a similar appeal by Monaca and Potter Township districts to remain separate; they join Center Borough in one district in the Beaver County plan upheld by the board.

The special meeting of Southern Board had originally been set to discuss a community college proposal, but a spokesman said today the rejection of the appeal will be brought up.

It is not known now whether the Southern board or the board of the Hopewell - Independence - Raccoon district will turn to court action, and file an appeal against the state board's ruling.

The Southern Beaver Jointure, which has some 1,100 students, includes four boroughs and two townships, while the Hopewell - Independence - Raccoon district has some 4,000 students and includes three townships.

to do to the building and have it all done at once instead of piecemeal.

Councilman Paul Todd, finance chairman, said $2,000 is being set up in the appropriation for replacing the roof of the building. The mayor said this would not be necessary if the city borrowed the money.

The legislation granting permission to the State Highway Department to resurface Clark Ave. from 17th St. to 24th St. was passed under suspension of rules. The cost to the city is $4,200, with county commissioners paying half. A letter was received from the commissioners stating the entire $4,200 has been paid the state and the city is to reimburse the county.

The city will be responsible for raising manholes and water shutoff boxes.

Angelo Georgetti, owner of the River-Rail Terminal, is interested in the purchase of the land he now leases from the city. His proposal met with opposition previously, but he now is willing to trade the city for land he owns around the sewage disposal plant. This would give the city access around the entire perimeter of the plant.

Legislation was ordered to authorize the director to advertise for bids for the sale of the land.

Solicitor William Busch said this was necessary as a trade is considered a sale.

Bush informed Council that a new type of escalator clause is being inserted in ordinances being written with the Ohio Valley Gas Co. by area cities. It would be favorable for Wellsville to consider this in its present contract with the utility.

The present legislation calls for quarterly rate changes, if necessary, while the new proposal calls for changes every six months. It also provides the utility cannot increase the rates unless they have been approved by the Federal Power Commission. The utility has indicated it is willing to allow Wellsville to make the change if it desires, Bush said.

Council will take the proposal under consideration at its regular meeting Tuesday night at 7:30.

The Shape Of Higher Education

President Novice G. Fawcett of Ohio State University has included a warning in his 1963-64 report to those talking about restricting the growth of the Columbus campus.

President Fawcett believes scholarly inquiry is the most important purpose of any university. "The scholar," he points out, "becomes the prime reason why a governmental agency or a foundation underwriting research decides to support projects at any given institution." Twenty-one Ohio State scholars, he said, were directly responsible for bringing in $8 million for their research in the last 10 years.

"Ninety per cent of the total amount of money exclusive of appropriated salary funds expended in research by the Ohio State University in 1963-64," Dr. Fawcett reports, "was brought to us directly by the scholars of the university."

He concluded: "This fact alone . . . should provide sober thought for those who would scatter limited funds to establish centers that cannot for years assemble the kind of scholarly leadership necessary for attracting support from governmental agencies or foundations rather than strengthen established centers staffed with researchers headed by the necessary individual, creative scholars."

This policy is on a collision course with another policy getting widespread attention — that university emphasis on teaching should be increased.

The general public thinks tax-supported universities are for students, not research. "Scholarly inquiry" is a remote and nebulous value to undergraduates investing their time in classroom procedures that are barren without participation of the university's top scholars.

But the scholars cannot research and teach at the same time. They live by the rule of "perish or publish." To keep from perishing, they turn over their classes to underlings, who are not regarded as adequate substitutes.

The shape of higher education is being determined by this debate. Perhaps scholars ultimately will work only with graduate students and all undergraduates will be in the hands of full-time teachers on other campuses scattered throughout the state.

It's Time For Extra Care

An Associated Press Story datelined Delaware, Ohio, read like this: "The weather was changeable, marked by snow flurries which sprang up suddenly and furiously and then disappeared in sunshines."

"But at 10:25 a.m. near the Marion-Delaware County line, U.S. 23 was dry, the highway straight, the grade slight. It was only cloudy, not snowy, and visibility was good."

"A minute later, two cars collided head on. The toll: Four dead, no survivors."

The weather will be changeable for the next few weeks in the East Liverpool area and the highways wet and slippery more often than dry. Some district roads are straight, but many are not and the grades often are steep.

The Route 30 hill near Chester, for example, where a pipe-loaded rig ran out of control Wednesday night and crashed into guardrails after its brakes failed.

It would be tragic indeed if a story similar to that from the Delaware area should appear under a "Tri-State District" dateline.

With hazardous conditions almost certain on frequent occasions from now until spring weather finally arrives for good, it's a time for extra careful driving.

For Science

Add the name of Wellsville to the list of area schools which are doing their bit for science.

The junior and senior Science Fair just concluded there proved quite successful and points to continued interest in a phase of the curriculum which is becoming of ever increasing importance each school term.

By Truman Twill

In European trench warfare in World War I.

They were still muddling when Edward VIII picked up the sceptre and began to ask questions about sub-human living conditions in Welsh mining towns and Midland industrial slums.

The king's to-marry-the-woman-I-love abdication in less than a year after his enthronement captured the fancy of a sentiment-hungry world. But it was a kick in the eye for an Establishment that had grown stuffy and decadent — the same condition that was driving Winston Churchill to despair at the same time.

THE ESTABLISHMENT was glad to see the former Prince of Wales spend the rest of his life in exile. His absence solved one of their embarrassments, which was an absence of answers for the questions he had been asking about stewardship of the United Kingdom.

They gave him the title of Duke of Windsor, delivered a final insult by refusing to let his wife share his royal highness status and made him royalty's best-paid remittance man.

The Duke of Windsor is an old man now — 70. The woman he loved enough to give up a throne is 68. They have lived a good life — better than they would have dared to live if they had stayed in England. The price of being royal in modern times is to create an image of prudence, restraint, even austerity.

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor are getting close to the end of the trail. So is the Establishment.

world but whose dogs snarl and growl when you come to visit and won't let you out of the car.

You probably also have friends who are large physically but who sport tiny pet dogs such as dachshunds or pekingese.

Do you know why you are always reading in the paper about some brave loyal dog rescuing somebody who has broken through the ice and is about to perish in the cold, numbing water?

Because this is the exception and therefore news. It is like a man biting a dog. You never read about people rescuing dogs, because it is so common, just as you seldom read about dogs biting people because it happens so often it is not news.

But putting all sentiment and emotion aside, the dog is here to stay because of purely economic reasons, just because of hard dollars and cents and jobs.

LOOK AT ALL the people dogs give employment to — veterinarians, food-makers and packagers, collar-makers, mothers, dog wardens, shelter and pound operators, rubber-bone designers, and pajama- and sweater-makers, to say nothing of fleapowder people and writers.

MAX

T.T.'s Comment: As to the exceptions — the preacher was underpaid and taught the dog to put meat on the table, the nubile girl was over-protective of herself or wouldn't have gone man-hunting with a dog. My friends don't have dogs like that.

End Of The Trail

Her royal highness Queen Elizabeth II is to receive a curtsy from the former Wallis Warfield, who married Uncle Edward in a heart-throb episode back in 1936.

It comes as a surprise that these two women — one the queen of England, the other the commoner who was so loved by a king of England that he left his throne to marry her — never crossed paths.

On second thought it is not so surprising. The queen was 10 when King Edward VIII shocked the world and scandalized the House of Windsor by renouncing the throne in favor of his brother, who became King George VI and made his daughter eligible to follow him on the throne. Ten-year-olds were not meeting American ladies who traveled in cafe society.

THEREAFTER, the kind of Britons who had been muddling through to survival on their own terms for centuries saw to it that their former king and his wife were kept out of British sight and British mind.

It is forgotten and of no consequence now that Edward's love affair with Mrs. Wallis Warfield of Baltimore coincided with a touch-and-go situation in internal British affairs.

It was to be only a short time before the muddlers blundered Britain into a cataclysmic war for which it was unprepared. The muddlers had been working overtime ever since muddle-headed tactics had killed off the flower of British youth.

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

That piece you wrote about dogs reflecting the characters of their masters was a gasser . . .

Like vicious dogs usually having vicious masters and the only reason dogs ever hate people is because some people are mean enough to hate dogs.

That part was particularly appealing where you suggested the adage "Know my dog, know me," and then said, "This tells the facts of life."

No doubt you would be glad to hear of some exceptions that prove your rule.

In a neighborhood where we used to live, a long way from here, they caught the preacher's dog stealing chickens and had to kill it.

Then there was this lonesome good-looking nubile girl who got herself a great big thoroughbred dog, figuring that when she took it walking it would serve as a conversation piece and attract a hand-some eligible bachelor.

The fellows all tried to flock around her all right, but the darn dog was so protective it wouldn't let any of the guys get near her and she had to get rid of it.

I SUPPOSE you heard about the pickpocket whose dog was so honest the beast would take a purloined billfold in its mouth and sniff around until it found the right-scented owner so it could return the cents.

You probably have friends who are among the most gracious hosts in the

There Are No Jobless In Germany

By Victor Riesel

In a few days two experts will fly to the little town of Oberhausen (the Ruhr), Germany, in search of answers to what has been mystifying many of America's leaders.

Among the answers sought will be why does the United States get hit by a series of triple hammer strikes over automation on the rail, waterfront, newspapers and mass factories — but booming Germany does not?

Why are there more than four million jobless in the U.S. — and not any unemployment whatsoever in Germany? Repeat: none whatsoever.

Everybody is working in the Federal Republic of Germany. In fact there is wild competition for workers. Firms dispatch their airplanes to Portugal, Greece and Turkey to recruit factory hands. Workers come from all over the world — including 4,500 from the United States.

SO GREAT are the opportunities in West Germany that, for the first time, U.S. citizens are going east, not west in search of a living. Daily there flows into the office of Herman Bremer, labor attache in the German embassy at Washington, letters from Americans seeking jobs in his country.

These American workers are referred to the Central Bureau for Labor Placement in Frankfurt. And the U.S. citizens migrate — not to what to them is a new country where jobs and more jobs are always available.

Why this prosperity there? Why no pockets of poverty such as we have in Appalachia?

Why on Sept. 30, 1964, were there 985,616 foreign workers in Germany? Why were they being made welcome across open borders while we were closing ours to willing and honorable Mexican workers?

A SEARCHER for answers is leading the two-man mission, Theodore W. Kheel, counselor and mediator who dynamically helped to settle the

Abused Rights

By David Lawrence

Working Freedoms Are Disappearing

Civil rights is today a much misunderstood, if not abused, phrase. There is a furor currently about literacy tests and other obstacles being placed in the way of Negroes who, wish to exercise their constitutional right to vote but there is no public debate on David Lawrence whether persons, either white or colored, should be allowed to sell their votes to the highest bidder. Yet it's well known that all sorts of bribes and material considerations are being offered in political campaigns in order to get votes. Scandals occur not only in local elections but in federal elections.

The court has not yet had a case requiring it to rule on whether religious beliefs are on a par with political beliefs in labor union practices. Compulsory unionization itself has come to be accepted by the politicians as a part of labor-management relations whenever both parties wish to put such an agreement into effect. In many a case the employer does not really act of his own volition. He is often forced under penalty of a costly strike, to accept compulsory unionization, whereby he agrees to dismiss any employee who, after 30 days, does not join a union.

Another abuse of civil rights is in the field of religion. The First Amendment to the Constitution says that no law shall be passed which in any way prohibits "the free exercise" of religion by a citizen. Only this week, the Supreme Court of the United States ruled that a person can be excused from military service as a conscientious objector even when his religious belief against participation in war is unorthodox.

IN MANY instances, labor unions conduct what are, in effect, employment agencies. Employers accept applicants for employment only from those agencies. Thus, the civil rights of the worker are brushed aside, and equal opportunity vanishes as discrimination is openly practiced.

There are, however, no street demonstrations or marches on Washington in behalf of the individuals who are being told that they must conform to the dictates of a labor union and give up their freedom of thought in order to get or retain a job.

Many states have felt that it was necessary to pass right to work laws forbidding compulsory unionization and 19 states have such laws on their books today. The labor unions have always conducted a crusade against this legislation.

The existing federal statute permits any state to forbid compulsory unionization. All states which do not prohibit it are in the position of accepting compulsory unionization, because federal law allowing the practice has been upheld by the Supreme Court.

Now, however, labor unions are demanding that the provision of the federal statute which allows the states discretionary power shall be repealed, and that no state in the Union shall be permitted to pass any law prohibiting compulsory unionization. President Johnson has recommended such a step to Congress.

There were 25 present.

The next indoor program, to be held March 25 at 7:30 p. m. at the annex, will include bird recordings by Eleanor Jones, and a discussion of wood warblers by Mrs. John Laitch of East Liverpool. Mrs. Laitch has replaced E. R. Chandler as the speaker. Color slides will be shown.

Wellsville Director Warns Of Rail Peril

An appeal to parents to warn their children not to play along the railroad tracks was issued today by Wellsville Safety Service Director Fred Baldasare.

He said children have been playing along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks in the 9th St. area during the lunch hour on school days. Some even are walking on the rails, with their backs toward the direction from which a train might come, he pointed out.

The children have been chased away several times and cautioned about the danger, but an additional warning from parents is in order, Baldasare said.

President Johnson phoned Mrs. Reeb half an hour after her husband's death. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Mrs. Johnson also expressed sympathy.

Reeb was working for the American Friends Service Committee at the time he died.

John A. Sullivan, executive director of the committee's New England division, said the minister "knew what the dangers were in going to Selma, but he knew he had to go."

Selma has been the center of a Negro voter registration drive led by Dr. Martin Luther King.

King said Reeb's death was "a great loss to the church community, the nation and all the ideals to which he passionately devoted his life. He now joins the ranks of those martyred heroes who have died in the struggle for freedom and human dignity."

Reeb was born in Wichita, Kan. He was graduated from St. Olaf's College, Northfield, Minn., in 1950; Princeton Theological Seminary in 1953; and Conwell School of Theology at Temple University in 1956.

He was ordained in the Presbyterian Church at Casper, Wyo., in 1953, and entered the Unitarian Fellowship six years later.

He married the former Marie Helen Deason, a graduate of Casper Junior College in 1950. They have four children, John David, 13; Karen Ruth, 6; Anne Elizabeth, 5, and Steven Douglas, 3.

A memorial service, at the request of his widow, will be held in Selma Sunday for Reeb.

The third phase will get under way immediately. Roy Groom, membership chairman, said.

Jerry Russell presided Wednesday night in the absence of Jack Call, orientation chairman. Ralph Fusco gave the welcome and Frank Fusco, a past president, discussed projects conducted during his term. Twenty-five attended.

Midland Man Sent To Pen

James Benthin, 43, of Midland Heights was sentenced to 1-7 years in the penitentiary at Columbus Thursday at a hearing before Judge Joel H. Sharp on charges of larceny by trick.

He took pictures of patrons' children in King's Bargain Center and accepted $255 in deposits but never provided the photographs last December.

Judge Sharp commented he would be stupid if he gave Benthin probation "to let him cheat innocent people." His previous record was poor, court said.

Selma has been the center of a Negro voter registration drive led by Dr. Martin Luther King.

King said Reeb's death was "a great loss to the church community, the nation and all the ideals to which he passionately devoted his life. He now joins the ranks of those martyred heroes who have died in the struggle for freedom and human dignity."

Power Concern Starts Use Of New-Type Bills

The Monongahela Power Co. has begun use of a new type of bill as part of a program using electronic billing equipment in the utility's general offices at Fairmont. Walter Jordan, Chester manager, announced today.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Smith of Orion Ave., Chester, received the first bill in the district Thursday.

Jordan said the new IBM equipment at Fairmont was delivered a few months ago, and the installation is still under way.

The new equipment will add to the efficiency of the customer accounting in the Panhandle Division and reduce costs of operations in line with efforts to continue the downward trend of the price of electricity, Leo O'Dea, supervisor of the accounting division, said.

Smith, a painter, and his wife, a pottery worker, reside in one of 561 electrically heated homes in Brooke and Hancock Counties.

Child Is Scalded By Hot Chocolate

A Wellsville child scalded by hot chocolate and two young people hurt in school mishaps were among five area residents treated at City Hospital Thursday.

Tamara Sue Wilkinson, 19-month-old daughter of Gerald Wilkinson of 714 Maple Alley, Wellsville, was treated last night for first- and second-degree scalds of the upper left arm after hot chocolate spilled on her.

Susan Taylor, 12, daughter of John Taylor of Chester R. D. 1, received an injury to the left wrist in a gym class.

William Adams, 16, son of Kenneth Adams of 639 River Rd., was treated for a laceration of a finger suffered on a band saw at high school.

Blair Carver, 62, of 705½ Green Ln. suffered cuts on fingers of the right hand on a paint scraper.

Buster Scofero, 56, of 304 Washington St. received a finger injury on a door at Waterford Park.

Women of the grange were asked to donate pies for the event at a meeting this week.

River-Lake Canal Terned 'Must' For Upper Valley

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A leader in the drive to build the Ohio River to Lake Erie canal said today the project is "must."

Kenneth M. Lloyd, executive secretary of Interconnecting Waterways, Inc., before a group of midwestern industrial and civic leaders promoting the canal, made the observation in analyzing the Pittsburgh District's Corps of Engineers report on the project.

"We are very pleased," Lloyd said, "with the report which recommends the joining of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway system to the Ohio River and other portions of our great national inland waterway system."

Lloyd said his analysis showed that without the canal at least 20,000 and as many as 25,000 jobs in the Pittsburgh-Youngstown area will be lost between now and 1975 in the steel-making industry alone.

The engineer's report was released in Pittsburgh March 4. One section contends the Pittsburgh-Youngstown region lost 5.8 per cent of the national steel output between 1956 and 1957, decreasing to 33 per cent of the national total.

"Studies by the corps show, Lloyd said, "that this will decrease further to 27 per cent by 1975 and to 15.7 per cent in the year 2025 unless the canal is constructed."

California U. Faculty Calls Meeting After Resignations

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — by Carter exploded Tuesday when Kerr and Meyerson without prior notice — resigned. Their resignations culminated more than six months of controversy over the Berkeley campus, where 27,000 students attend.

The university's Academic Senate late Thursday called the meeting after the university Board of Regents announced they would meet Saturday for a showdown on the long-running campus furor.

Regents Chairman Edward W. Carter summoned the 24-member board into special session in the wake of the resignations and a legislator's complaint that a "state of anarchy" exists on the Berkeley campus.

Carter also said regents would discuss "appropriate control over student conduct" and problems relating to principal university officers.

Faculty members, who were to meet Monday, apparently moved up their session to get on record before the regents met. The "problems" referred to were arrested on the campus last week for publicly displaying or speaking four-letter words.

Kerr in a statement Wednesday implied the regents, faculty and students all were at fault.

He intimated that he no longer wanted to be the middleman, facing pressure for more discipline from regents on one side and for more freedom and understanding from faculty and students on the other.

Kerr said violators of campus regulations must be disciplined, "but due process must have its due place and faculty committees should not seek to avoid their responsibility."

Police Chase Burglar After Being Alerted

An unidentified woman was credited early today with halting an attempted breaking and entering at the Moose Lodge on E. 3rd St. when the arrival of police in response to her call caused the suspect to flee.

Police chased the would-be burglar through E. Church Alley, but he eluded Lt. Kenneth E. Mooney and Patrolmen J. A. Walsh, Howard Frontz and Jack Strobel in the darkness.

Officers said they received a call at 4:21 a. m. from an unidentified woman, who reported someone was attempting to enter the Moose building.

Lt. Mooney sped to the scene in a cruiser, but the suspect fled as the cruiser arrived. Lt. Mooney was joined a few minutes later by Officers Walsh, Frontz and Strobel. A search failed to turn up the suspect.

Police said the suspect first attempted to pry open the front door. Unsuccessful, he broke an 8-by-10-inch window just prior to the arrival of the police.

It was the second time within a few weeks that a woman has notified police of suspicious circumstances in the neighborhood.

A call a few weeks ago led to the capture of two men while they were burglarizing Cooper's Amoco Service Station at E. 3rd and Washington Sts., less than half a block from the Moose Lodge.

A burglar was more successful when he broke into the Buckeye Club, 616 Dresden Ave., early this morning, obtaining an undetermined amount of change and a guitar and amplifier.

Entrance to the Buckeye Club, owned by Bob Freed, 306 E. 2nd St., was gained when the thief smashed a 12-by-18-inch window in Green Ln. and then reached in and unlocked the door.

The change was taken after a music box owned by Hune Co. was forced open, officers reported.

A red and black Harmony guitar, a black and white case and an amplifier were stolen from a second-floor room after the thief broke open a door, police were told.

Planning

for the development of Beaver Creek Park as drawn up and filled by the parks and recreation committee headed by Richard McCullough of East Liverpool.

The recommendation is for the state to acquire additional land and develop the park to meet the growing needs of the county and surrounding areas.

THE recommendations listed in details various camp sites, roads and trails, lakes, forest areas, golf courses, lodges and other areas. Co-operation with Pennsylvania officials for development of lands in that state was also urged.

Floyd Lower of Lisbon, president, reported township trustees in the county are preparing land use maps for a general survey by the commission.

He also reported that a subcommittee on higher education has scheduled meetings at East Liverpool, Salem and Lisbon to hear details of various proposals for a college branch, community college and technical school for the county.

Plans were discussed for a general meeting in May at which the final report of the 1964-65 survey of the county will be issued. A speaker is being obtained.

multi-coin pinball machines, was sent to the House Judiciary Committee after winning 19-15 Senate passage Wednesday.

In two sessions Thursday, the committee began going through the measure section by section in consultation with Kanawha County Prosecutor Charles Walker. He is past president of the state organization of prosecuting attorneys, which has endorsed the bill.

But the committee did not finish work on the bill Thursday. Chairman J. E. (Ned) Watson, D-Marion, noted that no similar House measure had been introduced and added, "It's a brand new bill to us."

Even if the bill came to the floor today, it would be in a position of needing a four-fifths vote to suspend the three readings rule if it was to have a chance of passage in the two days left of the legislative session. A four-fifths vote seemed unlikely.

The House Finance Committee killed Thursday a Senate-passed bill long sought by railroads. This was a measure to phase out the transportation privilege tax on their intrastate business over a five-year period.

Kiwanis To Mark Anniversaries

KIWANIS CHARTER MEMBER Charles W. Hendershot, one of the first members of city club formed in 1921, is congratulated by Alex Kidd, current president, as H. Jud English of East Liverpool, Kiwanis lieutenant governor, looks on.

A joint observance of the 50th anniversary of Kiwanis International and the 44th anniversary of the East Liverpool club will be held at a dinner Tuesday night at the Country Club.

Charles Hendershot, only living charter member of the city club founded in March 1921, will be honored at the 6:30 event for Kiwanians, wives and guests.

SOME 265,000 Kiwanians in 15 nations are currently marking the Golden Anniversary of the club, whose motto is "We Build."

Kiwanis was founded at Detroit Jan. 21, 1915, and at the anniversary celebration at Detroit this year, Harry A. Young, the last living founder, was especially honored.

Throughout its 50-year history, Kiwanis Clubs have sponsored and aided community, youth and civic programs across the nation, and its officers have pledged to meet responsibility to community service for the next 50 years.

The city club has undertaken many projects in its existence.

IN THE period 1958-64, the club raised and spent $9,600 on such programs as surgery for youngsters, $3,853; YMCA campers, $1,371; Pony League, $1,710; Key Club, $1,190; Child Counseling Center, $350; basketball banquets, $600; vocational guidance, $200; Citizens Scholarship Fund $200, and miscellaneous, $120.

Money for these projects came from such fund-raising activities as the annual pancake supper, along with table collections from members and gum-ball machines.

The late Russ Heddleston, also a charter member, served as Ohio Kiwanis governor in 1924 and compiled a meeting attendance record for which he earned the name, "Mr. Kiwanis."

ALEX KIDD is president of the club which numbers 55 and which meets each Thursday noon at the Travelers Hotel.

H. Jud English, a past president, is currently lieutenant governor for Division 19 which includes the city, Wellsville, Lisbon and eight other clubs.

Mayor Merrill Hall, another past president of the club, has officially proclaimed next week as "Kiwanis Anniversary Week" in recognition of the community service provided by Kiwanians since the city club's founding.

Kidd will be master of ceremonies for the dinner at which three members will be honored for 25 years service. They are Dr. Alex Fisher, Ira Burbick and Alvin Arner.

English will present a certificate to Hendershot.

From School On Contest

Key Club Members Give Orations For Kiwanians

Apathy in the nation and in the individual were discussed by two East Liverpool High School Key Club members at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

Brent English, president of the Key Club, and Pat Chema repeated orations they had presented in a high school competition.

English spoke on "A Dying Nation" and Chema on "Apathy in the Individual."

English said even greater threats than Communism exists for the United States — materialism and complacency.

He said the basic strength of the nation is not its education or ability to outproduce other nations in weapons, but the individuals with ideals and morals.

"This will be the year of crisis and decision," he said, "and we must all work together in Christian endeavor, stand up for the things we believe in, and make this a proud nation once more."

Chema spoke of a number of recent incidents in which crimes were committed in the presence of several citizens who did not intercede "because they didn't want to be involved."

Sliced onions and celery, cooked in a little butter or margarine, make an excellent addition to brown rice.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Concerning rubber floor mats in automobiles: I used to have them, too, and thought they were fine, but one day I sent my car to the most expensive shop for routine work and it came back minus floor mats.

I called the mechanic and asked him where my new rubber floor mats were. He said he threw them away...!

He told me they held moisture underneath and caused more rust damage to the underneath part of a car than anything! It does stand to reason.

So I went to a carpet house and bought two small pieces of carpeting which cost a dollar apiece and put them on the floor of the car. They are really nicer than rubber and are vacuumed every time I have my car washed.

PEARL MARVIN.

Don't laugh, folks, but this does stand to reason, doesn't it?

The last two cars we had we drove 10 years. Both rusted out under the floorboard. And both had rubber mats. Rubber is non-porous and I can see why condensation would accumulate underneath it and rust out all metal.

Once when I was driving and had to slam on the brake in an emergency, the heel of my shoe went through the floorboard!

Just to test yours, pull back the mat from the floor of your car and see if it is rusted underneath.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I line the inside bottom of waste baskets with adhesive-backed paper, leaving a quarter of an inch turn-up to stick to the sides.

It keeps the inside of good waste baskets (like leather or painted ones) from being scratched, and makes them easy to clean and wipe out if anything sticky is thrown into them.

JEAN GARNSEY.

DEAR HELOISE: Just found another use for Heloise net!

I have some rather elaborate plastic toothpicks I use for serving shrimp, olives, etc., and I always hate to discard them after a party.

This year I gathered them all up after our guests had gone and tied them in a square of nylon net.

I dunked them in real hot, soapy water with some disinfectant and rubbed them back and forth in the net, then rinsed them in clear, very hot water and laid them on a paper towel until they were dry.

They are now back in the box and ready for the next party.

How cheap can you get?

D. PERRY.

Honey, you're not cheap... just smart!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Our 5-year-old daughter is handicapped, and has the use of only one arm. I save hints and keep them in a file for her use in years to come.

It works every time.

M.F.W.

For cutting vegetables, a large board with one long, rust-proof nail driven up through the bottom.

Place head of cabbage, lettuce, carrot, or whatever... firmly on nail and cut!

I use one myself and it helps keep round vegetables from rolling around and prevents cut fingers.

Not only have I saved much of my own skin but our daughter likes to try it out already and thinks it to be a very normal part of my kitchen helpers.

CAROL DI MARSHALL.

DEAR HELOISE: Instead of writing notes for the milk man (and risk their blowing away) I stick a piece of adhesive tape on one bottle and write on the tape the amount of milk I want.

It works every time.

Ohio Marches Set In Tribute To Fatally Beaten Minister

By The Associated Press

Mass motorcades, marches and demonstrations are planned around Ohio this weekend to honor the memory of the white Boston minister beaten fatally in Selma, Ala., earlier this week.

In Columbus, the Congress of Racial Equality said it would ask Gov. James A. Rhodes to lead a "freedom motorcade memorial" and speak at a demonstration Sunday. A spokesman for CORE said his organization is hoping the memorial

"will be the largest massive civil rights demonstration in Columbus history."

Marches are planned in Cincinnati and at Covington, Ky., Saturday and at Middletown Sunday.

The Columbus motorcade is to begin at Franklin Park on the city's east side at 4 p.m. and will end at the new federal building and post office.

A parade permit has been obtained by CORE and police will block off the parade route to other traffic.

In Cincinnati, the city's Council of Churches has joined in calling for support for the demonstration and march planned there.

That march will start at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Revelation Baptist Church and end in front of the Hamilton County Courthouse.

Middletown's sympathy march is scheduled for Sunday afternoon from city hall to the post office.

Representatives of local religious bodies plan to join CORE members in that memorial demonstration.

Bruce Roush was the pronouncer with Mrs. Betty Cartwright, Mrs. Beryl Lightner, Mrs. Esther Bryan and Mrs. Marie Graham, principal, as judges.

Anne Irene Jackson, 11, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. Fraser Jackson of Park Way, won the Taft bee Wednesday.

As runnerup, Cheryl Ann Faulk, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Faulk, 429 Hill Blvd., will also represent the school in the city finals. Both are sixth graders.

To Lose Inches—Exercise

Having a goal lends wings to exercise efforts. The young mother, who is aiming to slim down and shape up in time for a June class reunion, is easier to swing into action.

With a 25-pound weight loss she hopes to slim two inches off the bust measurement, three inches off the Ida Jean Kain waist, and four inches off the hips. This alteration in her measurements will allow her to change from a size 18 dress to a size 14. In the middle size range, 25 pounds off equates with two sizes smaller.

Action: Swing for the hips...

Position: Lying on right side, legs straight down, left leg on top of right. Have palm of hand braced on floor for support.

Action: Swing top leg away up in front, then swing vigorously rearward. Hit a rhythm, 1-2-3-4... h-o-l-d. Hold on the second swing to the rear — to a count of six — and swing again. Repeat through five cycles. Change sides and repeat.

Exercise daily. Record measurement changes every other week.

Send stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for Isometric Exercise and Slim Hips In A Hurry. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Review.

Annoyance, Frustration

Attitude Of U.S. Officials Toward De Gaulle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The attitude of Washington officials toward the actions of French President Charles de Gaulle ranges from annoyance to acute frustration. At the moment acute frustration is on the increase.

This could have become explosively apparent in recent days were it not for the fact that President Johnson decided long ago against open quarreling with De Gaulle because he wants to minimize damage to the Atlantic Alliance and to long-term French-American relations.

Frustration has swelled behind the scenes, however, because many officials are convinced De Gaulle's present active diplomacy has the effect of undermining U.S. war policy in Viet Nam.

The problem is not that France wants a peaceful settlement, they say. The problem, as they see it, is that France is pressing hard for immediate negotiations to end the war at a time when the United States is increasing military pressure on the Communists in an effort to create more favorable conditions for negotiation.

Press reports obviously emanating from official sources in Paris earlier this week represented the view of the De Gaulle government as being that (1) Neutralization of South Viet ## Cunningham Honored . . .

Ken Cunningham, Cincinnati's senior guard from East Liverpool, was selected to the Missouri Valley Conference All-Academic basketball team and named honorary team captain of the Bearcats for the past season.

To qualify for the academic team, a player must have been a regular member of the varsity squad and maintained a "B" or better average in the second semester of the 1963-64 school year and the first semester of the 1964-65 school year or throughout his college career.

KEN CUNNINGHAM and three other Bearcats made the MVC listing. The others are Jerry Couzins, sophomore guard from Cincinnati, junior forward Dean Lampros of Columbus and Don Rolfe, junior forward from Harrison. Cunningham and Couzins had B plus', while the others had B averages.

As was the case in his junior year at UC, Kenny closed real strong this season, pumping home 46 points in his final three outings — 14 against St. Louis, 12 against Drake and 20 against cross-town rival Xavier.

At the Bearcat basketball banquet Monday, Cunningham was named honorary captain for the 1964-65 edition of the Red and Black in a vote held among his teammates. Recognition plaques were presented to the three seniors on the club—Cunningham, Gene Smith and Fritz Meyer. During their three seasons, Cincinnati had a 57-23 record for a winning percentage of .713.

Ken just completed his most successful season ever in varsity competition, averaging 8.5 points per game (fourth best on team) in 26 contests. He and junior guard Roland West played in all of the 'Cats encounters.

One of the top shooters on the squad, Cunningham hit on 95 field goals out of 206 for a .461 slate, slightly under his career total of .466, sinking 150 out of 322 from the field. An excellent team man and hustler, he was second on the team in assists with 59.

After graduation in June from Cincinnati, Kenny will further his studies. He has been given fellowships to Kent State and UC. At the banquet, he said that his tentative plans are to continue on at Kent State.

LaScola, Coach Of Year . . .

SIX YEARS ago, Joe LaScola, who used to toss in baskets for Wellsville in his high school days, went to Detroit, and success was soon to follow.

It took Joe only a year to mold a state championship team at Detroit's Holy Redeemer High. He didn't win the title this year, his team having been eliminated, but he received one of the highest honors in the Motor City when he was named "coach of the year" in the Catholic School League.

The 31-year-old coach tutored Holy Redeemer to its second league championship in five years this season.

LaScola is the youngest coach in the Detroit prep ranks, but during his short stay at Redeemer has turned out winning combinations. His over-all record in six seasons is 91-27 and his 1960 Redeemer team won the state title.

Along with the winning record, Joe has turned out several stars who have gone on to win honors in the college ranks, including Bill Chmielewski, the former Dayton standout.

Redeemer was eliminated from the tourney this season by a team it had defeated in the regular campaign.

Before Joe made the move to Detroit, he coached three years at St. Joseph High in Dover.

The LaScolas have four children, two basketball players of the future and two cheerleaders. His boys are 9 and 2 years old and his daughters 6 and 4.

Ward Setting New Marks . . .

REMEMBER Jim Ward who rewrote the county and district track records when he was sprinting for Columbian High?

He recently set a new freshman mark at Stanford University in the 440-yard dash. His time of 47.8 broke a 33-year-old record set by Ben Eastman of 48.2 in 1932.

Eastman later went on to win a silver medal in the 400 meters during the 1936 Olympics.

Ward, who has been elected co-captain of the freshman team, ran the 440 in the San Francisco indoor meet several weeks ago, finishing third. An Oregon University varsity runner won the event.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

FOR the first time, Ohio is holding competition in gymnastics for high schools.

The first meet will be staged Saturday at Ohio State University. While East Liverpool is not entering a team, the Potters will be represented by Denny Burke, a senior and Dan Beker, a sophomore.

They are members of a gymnastic club coached by Norm Six. The club has 25 members who have performed for the public at halftime of basketball games.

Burke will compete in the long horse event and Beker the trampoline.

Fight Results

MIAMI—Willie Pep, 137, Hartford, Conn., outpointed Harold McKeever, 135, Deerfield Beach, Fla., 8.

Yankee pitcher Bill Stafford worked 213 innings in 1962, compiling a 14-9 record. But the next two seasons he pitched a total of only 151 innings for an overall 9-8 mark.

Michigan's Russell On Sick List

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Has Cazzie Russell of Michigan fully recovered from the flu?

Will Bill Bradley of Princeton be back in top form?

Will UCLA be able to spoil Brigham Young's perfect home-court record?

Will St. Joseph's of Philadelphia revenge its only defeat of the season by Providence?

The answers to these questions will be forthcoming tonight as the NCAA post-season tournament that determines the national collegiate basketball champion goes into high gear with eight games at four regional sites.

St. John's of New York and Manhattan got the weekend competition off to an early start Thursday night with first-round victories in the opening of the National Invitation, the second major post-season tourney.

St. John's crushed Boston College 114-92 and Manhattan whipped Texas Western 71-53 before 16,098 at Madison Square Garden in New York.

Russell didn't play in Michigan's defeat by Ohio State last Monday and the chances of the nation's top-ranked Wolverines against Dayton hinge largely on his play. The teams play at Lexington, Ky., after fifth-ranked Vanderbilt battles DePaul.

Bradley, the Collegiate Player of the year, and his Ivy League champion teammates play against N.C. State at College Park, Md. Princeton's hopes are built around Bradley and he wasn't in his usual top form Monday although he scored the key points in the Tigers' 60-58 victory over Penn State.

St. Joseph's, 26-1 with a 16-game winning streak, lost its only game 65-61 to Providence on the Friars' home court in January and the Hawks have vowed to turn the tables. Their meeting, pitting the third-ranked team in The Associated Press poll against the No. 4 club, follows the N.C. State-Princeton game at College Park.

UCLA, the defending NCAA champion and disappointed over being ranked second to Michigan in the final AP poll of the season, battles Brigham Young at Provo, Utah, where the Cougars haven't lost all season.

Keith Erickson, UCLA defensive ace, had a touch of the flu this week and John Fairchild, BYU's star, has a sore ankle, but both are expected to play. In the first game at Provo, San Francisco meets Oklahoma City.

Southern Methodist plays Wichita and Oklahoma State opposes Houston in a double-header at Manhattan, Kan., to round out the NCAA play.

Also on tap tonight is the final of the NCAA small-college tournament at Evansville, Ind., with the unbeaten Evansville Aces trying for their second straight national title. Their opponent is Southern Illinois, a team beaten twice, each time by one point, by Evansville during the regular season.

The singles and doubles event will be held next weekend March 20 and 21 and 98 women are entered in these events.

The girls will take over the bowling alleys this weekend when the East Liverpool Women's City Bowling Association holds its team events at the Friendly Lanes.

Team bowling will begin Saturday at 1:30 p.m. and a total of $950 will be awarded in prizes to teams and individuals.

The singles and doubles event will be held next weekend March 20 and 21 and 98 women are entered in these events.

Waterford Park Meet Opens Today

Racing returned to the district today after a two-month layoff as Waterford Park opened an 85-day spring meet. Post time for the meeting will be 2 p.m. each day.

With nine races listed on today's program, a 10-race card has been set for Saturday.

Several improvements have taken place at Waterford Park and the new $1,600,000 clubhouse is scheduled to be completed in May. Waterford expects to turn to night racing when the clubhouse is completed.

Aparicio, Kaat Sign; 4 Hold Out

By The Associated Press

The list of unsatisfied major league baseball players was dwindling fast today following the signing of veteran shortstop Luis Aparicio by the Baltimore Orioles and southpaw Jim Kaat by the Minnesota Twins.

When Kaat signed for an estimated $26,000 Thursday and the 30-year-old Aparicio agreed to a salary of about $40,000, only four first-line players remained unsigned.

Still trying to get together with their bosses are Richie Allen, the Phillies' sensational third base rookie last season; veteran outfielder Wes Covington, also of Philadelphia, and Felix Torres, Los Angeles Angels third baseman. Of course, there also is Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente, but he is at his Puerto Rico home convalescing from malaria fever.

Kaat, who had been training at Orlando, Fla., but not with the Twins, received a raise of some $8,500 over last season, when he posted a 17-11 record and a 3.22 earned run average.

Aparicio based his demand for more money on a 1964 record of a career high of 10 homers, a batting average of .266 and finishing No. 1 in the American League in stolen bases for the ninth straight season. It's his second 700 series, he turned in a 728 score two years ago.

Pitching Key To Indians' Pennant Bid

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — "The thing that will determine the pennant this year is pitching"—and the Cleveland Indians might just have it, says Birdie Tebbets.

The Cleveland manager admitted Thursday he is personally optimistic because he wants his players to have a "winning attitude," but said, he genuinely considers the Tribe a serious pennant contender this year—if all the pieces fall into place."

He admitted he is concerned over starters Sam McDowell, Luis Tiant, Sonny Siebert, Jack Krarick and Ralph Terry.

Universal Polling Time?

Pierre Salinger says he has been conferring with Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., who soon may introduce a bill which would establish a universal closing time for all polling places.

The motive behind such proposed legislation is to eliminate whatever adverse effect a landslide victory announcement by TV and radio might have on voters in Western time zones where polls are still open.

SHOULD SUCH a bill pass Congress, the impact of TV on our political life will be further demonstrated. Our national conventions already have felt TV's impact to a point where even a TV commentator (CBS' Walter Cronkite) was moved to publicly criticize his own craft for turning last year's convention floors into "a mockery of the fact that this is a convention of delegates who are supposed to be listening to the speeches and tending to some sort of business on the floor."

Under his proposal, for example, polls could open in New York City at 10 a.m. and simultaneously across the country — 9 in Chicago, 8 in Denver and 7 in San Francisco — and all close 24 clock hours later.

IN A RECENT speech the former press secretary and senatorial candidate claimed that early TV network projections of a landslide victory for President Johnson provided the "coup de grace" to his California campaign for the Senate against George Murphy.

"I did not say this was the only reason for my defeat, but it certainly helped, as Don Muchmore's survey showed," Salinger elaborated.

The Muchmore survey referred to by Salinger estimated that 350,000 California voters didn't bother to go to the polls after hearing via TV and radio that LBJ was a handy winner over Barry Goldwater.

It was not disclosed how many of that number may have been Salinger voters. Sen. Murphy's victory margin over Salinger was approximately 216,000 votes.

"I REMEMBER phoning Lou Harris, the pollster for CBS, around 1 a.m. that election night, and he said, 'As of now you've got it with 50.9 per cent.' I then asked what he meant by 'as of now,' and Lou's answer was, 'If the voter turnout holds up,' related Salinger.

All three TV networks have maintained their early computerized election returns and victory announcements do not affect those listeners who have not yet voted and that legislation restraining such announcements would be tantamount to censorship.

CBS, however, was disturbed enough over the debate to take its own "massive survey" of voters in the West last November to determine what effect, if any, TV vote projections had where polls were still open.

"WE WON'T have the results of that survey until next June or July," said Bill Leonard, CBS vice president in charge of election coverage. "There's a lot of analysis to be made yet."

Leonard did not see any paradox between the network's ability to name election winners before the polls close nationally and the fact these same computers need several months to digest and give an answer to his survey on voter reactions to early winner announcements on TV and radio.

"THE HARDER I tried the less I was able to control my uncooperative arm muscles. On my next round of inspection the teacher was always less pleased. She shamed me by calling my work careless and slovenly. At this point I was in tears and more writing was next to impossible. For years I could not read my own writing a few weeks after.

"Dr. Myers, everyone knows that emotions are transmitted to our hands and arms in some way. Under emotional stress some people's hands sweat, others tremble, others clinch a fist or twist anything they can lay their hands on, others twitch or feel weak and jittery. A supreme effort causes our muscles to tense up. In any of these emotional conditions muscular control for exact work like penmanship is impaired.

"It is my contention based on my experience and on my observation of others that those children who have a miserable time learning to write have it because of an inherited lack of control for exact work, which

Mother Gives Her Views On Handwriting

A Wisconsin mother scolds me for telling parents to have their children rewrite homework and the like more neatly and carefully. Here is her letter.

"My mother wrote a beautiful script and this I thought I should be able to do if I just practiced enough. No child ever tried more in Dr. Garry Myers' tensely than I but it just didn't work. I tried arm movement, and when these failed, finger movement, and that failed also. For years I labored under the delusion that if I just practiced enough I should be able to make 'ovals' as well and smooth as any one. I couldn't."

"Then, Dr. Myers, you must to be fair, insist that the child who stutters keep talking until he speaks plainly and that the child who can't sing must practice until he is a good singer and the child with a limp must walk until he doesn't favor the bad foot or leg. Why should one handicap be the subject of shame and called careless and slovenly? Yet it is done every day and you seem to condone it. Insist he write it over if it is slovenly," you say.

"When A child has trouble controlling his throat muscles so that he stutters we would blush for shame at any one who insisted the child repeat the word over and over until it came out correct. But when a child has a tremor or a lack of control of arm muscles is it any less shameful on the teacher's part if she scolds or calls the miserable child careless and slovenly? Yet it is done every day and you seem to condone it. Insist he write it over if it is slovenly," you say.

Lavish New Rayburn Office Building Opens For Pleasure

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Rayburn Office Building, is members can start taking their bathing suits to work today. Their new swimming pool, a hidden asset in the lavish new WASHINGON (AP) — House Rayburn Office Building, is open for pleasure.

The pool, tucked away on a subterranean garage level of the $86.4-million office building, was formally opened Thursday along with a handsome gym, packed full of equipment designed to relax and invigorate the legislators.

The location of the pool was a well-kept secret during the years the building was under construction, and its cost is still unfixed. And when its existence was finally acknowledged it was referred to only as a "health exercise pool."

The healthful exercise can be carried on in a pool 60 feet long and 20 feet wide, in water deepening to 10 feet and kept at 80 degrees. It is three floors below the gym, connected by a stairway and elevator.

Even as the recreation facil-

ties — featuring a gleaming expansive of hardwood gymnasium floor, marble trimmed baths worthy of a Roman solon, and the blue-tiled pool — were being dedicated, the Rayburn building was being defended on the House floor against what Rep.

Tom Steed, D-Oklahoma, called "appalling numbers of erroneous statements and unwarranted

inferences, in news stories about it.

"It is designed to stand with time," said Steed, chairman of a subcommittee that appropriated most of the money for it.

"No one need apologize if it has grandeur and majesty — that's what it ought to have."

A somewhat similar view was expressed by Rep. Charles A.

Halleck, R-Ind., former House

Republican leader, at the dedication ceremonies, which President Johnson attended.

"No matter what the press says," Halleck told an appreciative audience of members, "for all the frustrations and abrasions that come from serving in Congress we're entitled to a few fringe benefits."

The President told the crowd:

"I didn't come here for a workout. I get one every day in my job."

Junior Editors Quiz on TOTEM POLES

QUESTION: Who used totem poles and why?

ANSWER: Totem poles were the work of northwestern American Indians from such tribes as the Haida and Tlingit. The strange figures are "totems," or special animals sacred to the group called a "clan." If you belonged to the wolf clan, the wolf would be your totem and you would not harm any wolf. The northwestern Indians led more settled lives than many others. They preserved salmon by smoking and so had much leisure. With abundant wood, they built cedar plant houses and spent much time in feasting and ritual ceremonies. It grew to be a custom to carve the front door posts of the houses. About 1780 the Haida on Queen Charlotte Island developed this into separate carved poles set up front. These showed the totems of the owner and might record incidents in the clan or family history. The Indians vied with each other for social standing and the totem pole became a way of claiming prestige. The carvers became expert and the totem poles became the finest of all American Indian art work. After 1880, the custom of making them began to cease.

FOR YOU TO DO: We show some totem animals at the bottom of the picture. Select one for your totem (of course, you could invent another). Then draw it on quite a big sheet of paper and color it as the Indian's did, in bold blue, red, orange and black. It will look interesting on your bedroom wall.

How Can I?
By ANNE ASHLEY

Keep re-saturating the cloth until the stain disappears.

Q.—How can I blacken brown shoes?

A.—Rub the shoes with sandpaper to remove all dirt, then rub liquid ammonia into them with a flannel cloth. Next apply black India ink with a brush, let dry, then polish as usual.

Q.—Is there any way I can clean clear plastic articles?

A.—These usually can be cleaned safely with lukewarm water and mild soap, either by brush or by soaking. Only surface stains, however, are removable. Discolorations that have penetrated the plastic are usually hopeless.

Q.—Is there any way I can renovate some dented table tennis balls?

A.—Try pouring boiling water over them. The heat of the water expands the air inside the balls and usually the dents pop right out.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed a letter from a 23-year-old homosexual who was 4 F. He wanted to know what to tell friends and relatives who kept pestering him with questions about why he was not in the Army.

You told the young man not to feel under any obligation to give details to anyone — including his mother.

Do you realize what you did to every 23-year-old male on the West Coast who is not in the Army because he has back trouble, a trick knee or a heart murmur?

The day that letter appeared in print five people asked me if I had read Ann Landers' column. Then they looked at me funny. It so happens that I'm 23 years old and that I live on the West Coast. I'm also a 4 F — for reasons which I will not go into here. Sometimes I think you cause more trouble than you do good. Why don't you retire and check into an old folk's home? — 4 F and normal.

Dear Norm: I'm a little under age for the old folk's home and I like my work too much to retire but I'm sorry I made trouble for you.

Every day someone, somewhere gets mad at me because a letter that appeared in the column is uncomfortably similar to his problem.

When this occurs, denials are useless. Remember — he excuses himself accuses himself.

Good Riddance

Dear Ann: Eighteen months ago I became engaged to Rex. We were both 21 and had gone together two years. Ten days after my parents announced our engagement at a lovely party, Rex told me the horrible news.

He had gotten an 18-year-old girl in trouble and would have to marry her. I never heard the girl's name before that night and here he had been seeing her on the sneak for a year. I was a college junior and had to drop out for the remainder of the semester because I was too ill to get out of bed. It took months of therapy before I was able to leave the house and face my friends. I'm proud to say I made a good adjustment and am now dating and having a good time.

Last night Rex called and begged me to meet him at a cafe. He sounded very upset so I agreed. He tells me he hates his wife and he's not sure the baby is his. He wants to get a divorce and marry me. He says life isn't worth living and he'll commit suicide if I don't take him back.

I loved him once but now I'm confused and afraid to become involved. Please help me. — ANNAMARIE.

Dear A: This character is poison. He is also married and a father. Tell him to stay away from you and to work out his problems as best he can. You owe him nothing.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
